The Story of The Sinking of Reelfoot Lake

How the Awful Antics of Nature in 1811 Horrified Early Settlers, and Its Final Consummation, Told by an Eye-Witness

The Lake as it Appears To-day, the Most Unique of all Lakes. Remains of a Virgin Forest Are Still Visible.

Twelve miles from Hickman is probably the most interesting body of water in existence. It is interesting both from a standpoint of origin and its appearance today. There is not another like it.

The following letter, written in 1836, to the Rev. Lorenzo Dow, graphically describing the horrible earthquake of 1811 and the consequent sinking of Reelfoot Lake, known the country over for its superiority as a fishing and hunting resort, was recently found among some old letters. As will be seen in those days it took weeks and oftentimes months to receive a letter after being mailed. The article will be especially interesting now, because of the recent decision of the lower courts of West Tennessee denying certain parties, who claimed to have purchased the Lake, the right to drain Reelfoot Lake and convert the soil underneath into land. The letter is as follows:

"Dear Brother: I have just received your kind letter, written some three or four weeks ago, requesting me to give you a description before. The people fled hither and yon, supposing that there was less danger at a distance from the river, which was boiling, foaming and rearing terrifically. Men, women and children gave up in despair, some praying and others fainting, so great was their fear.

"There were light shocks each day until January 23, 1812, when one as hard as the first occurred, followed by the same phenomena. From this time until February 4 the earth was in continual agitation, visibly waving as a gentle sea. That day a shock, almost as severe as the others, that it was called 'the hard shock.' The earth was transformed into total darkness and the chickens went back to roost, the cows moored and the frightened horses pitifully neighed. At first the Mississippi river seemed to recede from its banks, and its waters, gathering up like a mountain, leaving for a short period of time many boats which were passing down the river, on the bottom of the river during which time the crew escaped to land in safety. The river rose 10 to 15 feet perpendicularly, expanding, as it were, at the same time the banks were overflowed with a retrograde current. The river falling immediately, receded within its banks again with such violence that it took with it whole groves of young cottonwood trees and much cattle and stock.

"A great many fish were left on the banks, being unable to keep up with the water, and an old canoe, antique in construction, was washed ashore. The river was a mass of floating wrecks of boats, and it is said that one was wrecked in which there was a lady and six children, all of whom were lost.

"In the hard shocks described the earth was horrible lacerated—the surface was from time to time covered over of uneven depths by the sand which issued from the fissures.

There were two the past winter, which were made in great numbers all over the country, some of which closed up immediately after they had vomited forth their sand and water. In many places, however, there was a substance resembling coal thrown up with the sand. It is impossible to say what the depth of the fissures or irregular breaks were. The site of New Madrid, Missouri, was settled down at least 15 feet, and not more than half a mile below that town there does not appear to be any alteration of the river, but back from the river a short distance the numerous large ponds or lakes, which covered a greater part of the country, were totally dried up. The beds of some of them bulge above their former banks several feet.

"The most remarkable feature of all the entire disturbances which was not generally known for some months afterwards was the discovery of a huge lake on the Tennessee side of the Mississippi, upward of 35 miles long and from one-half to eight miles in width. This lake was later called Reelfoot Lake. There are places in it the bottom of which has never been found, though many efforts have been made to ascertain the depth of these places.

"The lake has communication with the Mississippi river at both ends, and it is conjectured that it will not be many years before the principal part, if not the whole, of the Mississippi will pass that way. In the last year or so an herb, resembling moss, has literally covered the surface of the lake, and during the winter months wild fowls, such as ducks, geese, cranes, etc., winter on the lake and eat this moss as food. Deer and other animals seem to enjoy it.

"It is said that where the lake was formed was a vast area of fine timbered lands, and in place only the tops of the trees can be seen. The lake runs north and south, and each end has a neck shape, widening out about the center, or nearer the northern terminus than the center. The water in it does not seem to rise or lower to any marked degree, and the lake is destined to become the great hunting and fishing resort of the West.

"It is said that where this lake was formed was formerly the Indians' hunting grounds and also where they held their annual war dances; but since the terrible visitation of the earthquake it is a rare thing that one ventures in that vicinity. By some method, known only to themselves, they marked a warning on the trees for other Indians to keep away.

"Most of those who fled from the vicinity during the hard shocks have returned, but always become greatly alarmed at the slightest trembling of the earth. We have since their commencement, in 1811, and occasionally, feel light shocks. Hardly a week passes but we feel one.

much more severe than we have felt them for several years before. Since then, however, they are lighter than ever, and as the months and years pass the inhabitants are becoming more reconciled to the surroundings.

"One circumstance worthy of mention is: This section was once subject to severe thunder, but for a long time previous to the first shocks there was no thunder at all and but very little since.

"I have now complied with your request for a description of the earthquake—imperfect, it is true, but just as it occurred to the best of my memory. If you will come out here, you and myself will take a two or three days' tour of inspection of the county most affected by the earthquakes, and especially of the lake I have described in the foregoing. Doubtless it has not a parallel in history, and in my mind is the wonder of the age.

"Respectfully yours,
"E. BRYAN.

MOTHER DEAD, CHILD MISSING

Mrs. Ada Riechers Found Murdered
In Her Cottage Home.

Hot Springs, Ark.—A mother and wife occupying a flat at a local morgue, two little blue-eyed boys less than 5 years of age being cared for by kindly neighbors, a 9-year-old sister and daughter of the dead woman either kidnapped or murdered, a husband hurrying from Texas to the scene, and a lone murderer dodging detectives of four states, are the strange complications arising from the slaying in this city yesterday of Mrs. Ada Riechers, who came here recently from Texas with her children.

It is only from tangled bits of evidence that the story of the tragedy is gleaned, the story of a woman about her housework, interrupted by an unknown man, strangled with a long, wrinkled towel, her head beaten to a pulp, and then, when death throes were on, the towel removed from the throat and with the handle of a heavy hammer that had battered her head and face, the towel was jabbed down the throat of the woman, a process that knocked out half her upper teeth and broke a jaw bone.

Two weeks ago Mrs. Riechers first appeared here, securing board at a home on Malvern avenue. Four days ago she rented a furnished cottage apartment at 112 Kirk street, the scene of the tragedy. Neighbors knew nothing of the new tenant, except that there was a woman of about 34 years, a little girl 9 years of age, and two little boys 5 and 3 years, who played about the yard in jumpers. There was a lodger, a man of ordinary looks, who came and went quietly.

The remainder of the story was gleaned from the talk of the little 5-year-old Frank Riechers.

The lodger was known to the tot as "Orgy." This same name, and with the same pronunciation, is applied to the missing sister.

The babe knows nothing of the strange man, other than that the mother called him "Orgy," and they called him that, too.

Yesterday afternoon he disappeared, taking Orgy with him, since which time he has not been seen.

LAST OF LATONIA RACING

Horsemen Abandon Idea of Holding Another Meet.

Latonia, Ky.—The last race of the present season, run at Latonia track this afternoon, may mean the closing of the Latonia course. The action of the directors in so abruptly closing down came as a hard blow to horsemen, who were caught with horses on their hands and no place to race them and give them a chance to earn feed. Some of the jockey club directors are quoted as saying that the track will not be reopened again under present conditions. The conditions referred to are the restrictions on the racing game enforced by the state racing association. As its rulings seem to prevail in the future, it is proposed that the track will remain closed for good.

NIGHT RIDERS OUT AGAIN.

Calloway County Farmers Visited
by Band of Two Hundred.

Paducah, Ky.—Recent incendiary speeches made in the eastern part of Calloway county, which was the center of night rider troubles a few months ago, have had their effect and serious trouble is threatened.

A report received from Murray today was to the effect that about 200 night riders surrounded the homes of Frank Mardis, Will Dyer and other farmers who are witnesses for the commonwealth in night rider cases, and fired several hundred shots, ostensibly for the purpose of intimidating them.

Nearly all of the soldiers have been withdrawn from Calloway county. Predictions were made that trouble would break out again when the soldiers left. More troops have been requested, and when they reach Murray the county will be patrolled nightly.

HELIE AND ANNA MARRIED

Only Few Witnesses Saw the Couple Join Hands.

London.—Madame Anna Gould and Prince Helie de Sagan were married at a registry office in Henrietta street off Covent Garden today. A subsequent ceremony was conducted at the French Protestant church on Soho Square. There was absolutely no secrecy about the wedding. The prince and Madame Gould made a determined effort to escape the crowd. They had a large motor car waiting at the main entrance of the hotel all morning. When the hour for them to leave arrived, however, the couple, accompanied by three friends, left the hotel by a rear door and, entering ordinary cabs, drove to the back entrance of the registry office, where they were married in the presence of a few friends.

BRYAN NOMINATED ON FIRST BALLOT

Denver, July 10.—Mr. Bryan was nominated at 3:30 o'clock on the first ballot. He got the nomination on Pennsylvania's vote.

Unofficial total: Bryan 892½, Johnson 46, Gray 39¼.

The solid vote of New York was challenged after being cast for Bryan. Connors and Murphy voted for Bryan; Parker did not.

Pennsylvania's vote was polled after being challenged.

Hammond of Minnesota moved to make the nomination of Bryan unanimous.

Gray of Maryland moved to make it unanimous.

Delaware moved to make it unanimous.

Bryan's nomination was made unanimous.

Denver, July 9.—The Democratic national convention proceeded tonight to the nomination of candidates for president of the United States, the nomination of Congressman Henry D. Clayton of Alabama, permanent chairman of the convention. When the session opened tonight every formality of organization had been completed and the decks were clear for the supreme work of adopting the platform and naming the candidates.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN.

The scenes within the convention amphitheater today repeated those of previous days in the magnitude of the gathering and the eager enthusiasm of the throngs. There were frequent demonstrations as the names of party idols or Jeffersonian principles were pronounced, but there was no repetition during the early session of the tumultuous record-breaking demonstration of yesterday.

The address of the permanent chairman, Mr. Clayton, proved to be a caustic arraignment of the failure of Roosevelt policies and an enunciation of Democratic doctrine. The ringing voice of the orator and the emphasis of his gestures stirred the listening thousands to freedom.

At 7:15 p. m. the galleries were completely filled, and the majority of the delegates were in their seats, but the officers of the convention were still waiting for the report of the committee on resolutions.

The band in the gallery worked with great industry, and when it struck up "Dixie" the demonstration that followed gave a glimpse of scenes certain to occur later in the night if a nomination was made. The delegates, as the first notes of the old war song floated out, sprang up and waved their flags. It was instantly shown that the galleries, too, had been provided with them, and in an instant the convention hall was a tossing sea of fluttering flags.

The scene, even though the greater part of the electric lights were not turned on, was really one of great beauty as the flags flashed back and forth against the darker background of the crowd.

At 7:50 o'clock it was whispered through the hall that the committee on resolutions had finished its work and would in a short time be prepared to present its report to the convention.

It was just 7:50 o'clock when Chairman Clayton began to rap for order, which he secured within the minute.

The galleries, with a profound ignorance of the manner in which the convention should be managed, broke in with cries of "Vote!"

When quiet was restored the chair recognized Representative Ollie James of Kentucky, of the committee sent to ascertain the probability of an early report from the committee on resolutions.

Mr. James reported that the committee would not be ready to report before midnight. He then made a motion that the rules be suspended and that the nomination speeches for presidential candidates be made, with the understanding, however, that no ballot should be taken until after the report of the committee had been received.

The motion was adopted, and the rules were declared by the chair to be suspended and nominations to be in order.

"The secretary will now proceed to call the roll of states for nominations for the office of president of the United States," shouted Chairman Clayton.

ALABAMA YIELDS TO NEBRASKA.

"Alabama," called the clerk.

The chairman of that delegation arose and was recognized.

"Knowing that Nebraska will make no mistake in nominating the right man," he said, "Alabama yields to Nebraska."

"I, J. Dunn, of Omaha, will speak for the Nebraska delegation," announced the chairman of that state, while the cheering which followed the first statement from Nebraska continued unabated.

Mr. Dunn, who was to make the speech of the convention, in which the greatest interest was felt by the delegates and the spectators, is scarcely of middle age. His clean-cut, determined-looking, clean-shaven face is surrounded by dark brown hair, which, owing to the emphatic manner in which he executed his speech with his head, was soon touching the center of his forehead. He spoke clearly and with a pleasing manner of delivery.

APPLAUSE IS FREQUENT.

As Mr. Dunn proceeded, almost every allusion he made to the character of Mr. Bryan was enthusiastically applauded, although he had not yet mentioned the name of the Nebraska candidate.

When Mr. Dunn declared that his candidate was the choice of the militant Democracy of the country, the convention broke in with wild cheers. The ever ready flags were tossed aloft, and a roar of applause swept through the hall. While the cheering was at its height a white dove was let loose from the gallery and flew across the convention hall, while the delegates hailed it with great enthusiasm and cheered as long as it was in sight.

Mr. Dunn brought out the name of William Jennings Bryan with intense dramatic force, and the response from the great throng was electric. The delegates sprang up, the galleries followed suit and the demonstration was under way in a manner that promised to rival yesterday's exhibition of enthusiasm.

VAST AUDITORIUM SWEPT.

The band in the balcony lent its share to the celebration of the Bryan followers, and the blare of horns, the beat of drums and crash of cymbals could be heard above the roar of the shouting hundreds on the floor and the thousands in the galleries.

The cheering swept past the vast auditorium in great noise waves, which ebbed back and forth in a volume that increased and diminished alternately.

As the delegates took breathing spells to renew their vocal enthusiasm, the start of the demonstrations set a doreen photographers to work and the boom of their flashlight explosions at times fairly shook the great building, such an immense amount of powder was used. The explosions also served to fill the upper portion of the hall with choking white smoke, adding vastly to the discomfort of those already forced to breathe the heavy atmosphere of the upper strata.

GANG'S ALL HERE.

The crowd in the parade was not nearly so numerous as that of yesterday, and many delegates, mindful of torn clothing, tramped toes and sore throats, remained upon their chairs watching the demonstration.

It was not that their loyalty was less than the day before, but they had been through the battle once, and all of them were not anxious for a repetition of their nerve-racking and lung-tearing experience of the day before.

"Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here" from the busy gallery band set the crowd to singing, and a moment later, under the lead of crashing brass, the chorus was changed into a deafening roar of "Tammany!"

Many of the delegates in the midst of the struggling, crushing turmoil on the floor lost their hats, their coats and finally stripped themselves of collars and ties.

After thirty minutes of the demonstration, the pounding of Chairman Clayton's immense gavel could be heard above the roar of the crowd. At first, however, it seemed only to serve as an incentive to greater outpouring of what seemed to be an inexhaustible supply of Bryan cheers.

BRYAN HEARS NOISE.

A feature of the demonstration, never before part of a national convention, was that the greater part of the cheering and uproar was distinctly heard by the candidate at his home, 500 miles away, a telephone to which was attached an immense gramophone which had been placed in the hall, and Mr. Bryan at the other end of the wire was at Fairview, where he was able to hear the cheering in his honor that filled the convention hall.

Forty-five minutes after the name of Bryan had been mentioned, Chairman Clayton again tried to stay the tumult, but in vain. Another five minutes elapsed and he tried once more, but did not succeed even in driving the flag-wavers from his own desk.

Mr. Clayton stood the invasion a few minutes longer, and then bodily dragged the men from his desk. With uplifted hand he stood trying to restore order, and there were increasing signs now that the outburst had about run its course. Half of the delegates, tired and hot, had resumed their seats.

BAND STOPS PLAYING.

When the noise had continued for just forty-five minutes, the sergeant-at-arms began their first efforts to still the uproar and to clear the tables. The word was given to messengers that it was desired that the parading should cease. A message was sent to the band in the gallery to cease playing, and it willingly obeyed the injunction, the players being almost exhausted by their severe work in the torrid gallery near the roof.

These messages had some effect, but it was impossible for such an uproar to die away in an instant. The state standards in large measure were returned to their places, and one hour after its commencement the excitement and noise were subsiding.

Another measure calculated to cause a cessation of the shouting was the turning out of many of the lights in the clusters on the ceiling. This had a marked effect, and a storm of blows that was directed at the shouters from all parts of the hall helped the work amazingly.

GEARIN SECURDS NOMINATION.

At 10:20 p. m., when the demonstration's last cry had died away, Chairman Clayton directed the secretary to continue the calling of the roll of states. Arkansas passed and California yielded to Oregon. Ex-Senator Gearin of that state then was introduced to second the nomination of Mr. Bryan.

Senator Gearin mentioned the name of Bryan in his first sentence, but it received but a ripple of applause, the enthusiasm having completely spent itself. The senator spoke but a few minutes and left the stand with liberal applause.

Arkansas, which had passed early in the roll, gave way to North Carolina, and Gov. Glenn of that state took the stand to second the nomination of Bryan.

The crowd grew very impatient as the speaker continued his address, despite his declaration that he did not intend to make a speech. His peroration and the name of Mr. Bryan was entirely lost in the chorus of cries that was hurled at him.

GOING HOME

From Fourth Celebration, Kentuckians Fought on Train With Fatal Results.

Lexington, Ky.—Four men were wounded, two probably fatally, in a battle on a Lexington & Eastern train, near Clay City.

Gordon Nelson, cattle dealer, of Winchester, an employee of Zack Conner, partner of Nelson, had been attending an Independence day celebration at Clay City, and quarreled over a cattle trade.

The quarrel was renewed on the train. Horton drew a knife and Nelson a revolver. Passengers became panic-stricken and rushed for the doors. Many were knocked down and trampled. Horton closed on Nelson and began slitting him.

When the train was stopped at Shawnee it was found that Horton had been shot through the left breast and Nelson was stabbed in the left temple. Both were unconscious.

Miller Dennis, of Winchester, a passenger was shot through the neck. C. E. Gambon, also of Winchester, was cut by flying glass. Gambon left the train at Winchester, but the others were brought to Lexington and placed in Good Samaritan hospital. The physicians say there is little chance for the recovery of Nelson and Horton.

FINAL STEP TAKEN

In Court in Caleb Powers Case, Which Has Cost the State $40,000.

Frankfort, Ky.—When Judge J. B. Morris, in Georgetown, ordered the case of the commonwealth against Caleb Powers stricken from the docket of the Scott circuit court the last step in this noted murder case was taken.

Judge Morris ordered the expense of the last trial, amounting to $5,000, paid, and the Martin rifle, said to have been used in killing Geibel, returned to Grant L. Roberts, of this city. The trial of Powers has cost the state $40,000.

The cases of Taylor, Finley and others will be called at the next term of the Franklin circuit court, and Gov. Willson will be asked to issue requisitions for the two in Indiana.

Britton Case Passed.

Lexington, Ky.—The case of William Britton, charged with the assassination of James Cockrell, in Breathitt county, was continued until the next term of the Fayette circuit court on motion of the commonwealth. A similar charge against Alexander and Elbert Hargis and Jesse Spicer was passed until later, but they will also be continued. It is believed the cases will ultimately be filed away.

Pipe Line Survey.

Fullerton, Ky.—The Columbia Gas & Electric Co. of Cincinnati, has finished the survey for its pipe line from the West Virginia fields to the Ohio river, completing the longest survey for this purpose in the whole world. The line crosses the Big Sandy river north of Louisa and strikes this county at Cannonsburg, extending down Tygart's creek.

Was Forced To Steal.

Louisville, Ky.—Leater Tadd, one of two men arrested on a charge of having robbed the Kosmosdale post office, near here, claims to be a Yale alumnus, and says that he was forced to steal to buy bread for his wife and child. He was taken into custody together with Thomas Littlewood. Their cases were transferred to the federal court.

Varsity Student Drowned.

Louisville, Ky.—Harold J. Murray, 19, a student at State university, was drowned in sight of several friends in the Ohio river, near Goose Island. Murray was swimming along by a boat. The wind swept the boat away, and as his comrades could not swim Murray was left to drown.

Still Is Captured.

Owingsville, Ky.—Deputy United States Marshal Sam Jackson, of this place, and posse, after several days' search in Powell county, found a new copper still containing 800 gallons of beer, which they destroyed. All the operators escaped.

Chas. D. Butler Succumbs.

Frankfort, Ky.—Judge Charles D. Butler, aged 84 years, a prominent jurist and politician, died at Tyrone. He was a first cousin of Senator-elect W. O. Bradley. He was well known throughout the state.

Clark Addresses Association.

Louisville, Ky.—J. H. Clark, of Cincinnati, was the chief speaker at the session of the Kentucky Funeral Directors' association. He spoke on "Embalming and Sanitation."

Found Under a Bed.

Louisville, Ky.—Taylor Smith, colored, was arrested and placed in jail by the police. He was discovered in an intoxicated state, with a knife in hand, under a bed in the residence of C. S. Pumphrey.

Winn Delays Meeting.

Mt. Sterling, Ky.—The meeting of the republican state central committee, called for Wednesday next, was postponed by Chairman Winn until Wednesday, July 16. The meeting will be held in Louisville.

KENTUCKIAN KIDNAPED.

Friends of Missing Farmer Think He Has Been Murdered.

Hopkinsville, Ky.—Some of the neighbors who have been stationed in this county came here and left. It is believed, for Cobb, Caldwell county, a permanent camp. It is believed will be established there. The latest depredations in Western Kentucky reported to have taken place in the territory between Cerulean Springs and Cobb. There is a persistent rumor that a young farmer near the Caldwell county line was taken out of his home on the night of May 17 by night riders and has not been heard from since. One theory is that he was murdered, as he had been previously threatened. A barn in the same neighborhood was destroyed by fire while the owner was away. It is reported that the people of Cobb are much opposed to having soldiers stationed there, and that they will refuse to sell the camp supplies.

LOADED BUGGY WHIP

Used To Kill Rival For Young Woman's Hand.

Cattlettsburg, Ky.—Walking home from Grass Church, about six miles south of this city, William Noble, aged 21, was assaulted by John Nichols, who dealt him a blow on the head with the loaded butt of a buggy whip, inflicting an injury which resulted in the death of Noble.

An examination showed that a blood vessel had been broken in the brain. Nichols had threatened to kill a man who dared to pay attention to a certain young woman. When he saw Noble with her he made good his threat. Nichols came to this city when it was learned that his victim had died he made his escape and has not been arrested.

Singleton's Slayers Arrested.

Newport, Ky.—Walter West and Grace Hillingsby, accused of the murder of Squire Robert L. Singleton, of this city, nearly a year ago, are under arrest. The woman was arrested in Chicago and West was found in ten. They will be brought to court. The arrest of the couple makes up one of the most brutal murders committed in this section in years.

Singleton's Son Dies Suddenly.

Newport, Ky.—Fred G. Singleton, son of the late Squire Edward Singleton, was suddenly stricken when notified of the arrest of the couple charged with the murder of his father, and died soon after his physician arrived. The physician says he died from an epileptic convulsion, brought on by the shock of the notification of the arrest of the couple who are being held for the murder of his father.

Formed State Body.

Louisville, Ky.—A delegation of boomers went to Eminence, where a conference on better highways was held. Former Lieut. Gov. Thomas made the address of welcome to Gov. Willson was among the speakers. The State Good Roads association was formed.

Twenty Will Contest.

Frankfort, Ky.—Twelve men will compose the team to represent Kentucky at the national shoot at the Perry, and they are to be selected by 20 militiamen who have qualified as sharpshooters. The 20 men will select to decide who will compose the team.

Latonia Meeting Closes Down.

NEARLY FOUR CENTURIES OLD

Pennsylvania School Teacher Has Bible Printed in Switzerland in the Year 1544.

D. W. Deitrich, a school teacher of Warwick township, Lancaster county, Pa., has a German Bible that was printed partly in 1544 and partly in 1551 by Christofel Frausshaur, in Zurich, Switzerland. The volume is fully illustrated and is in excellent condition. What seems remarkable is the fact that it has marginal references. It measures 15 inches in length, 11 in width and is six inches thick. The book is bound in heavy calfskin, almost half an inch thick. The back is heavily ribbed and studded with copper rivets. The corners are protected by heavy metal plates, and the book closes with a heavy metal clasp. The book is not paged, though the leaves are numbered. A marginal record states that Christopher Burkholder bought the volume in 1771 for 30 shillings (about $7.50). It came into the Dietrich family in 1835, when the father of the present owner bought it at a public sale for 65 cents.

PEAR-SHAPED BALLOONS.

Pear shaped balloons are the fashion in Belgium. The point is upward, the base of the balloon is spherical. It is claimed that balloons of this shape pierce the air vertically with far greater speed than the ordinary spherical balloon. Consequently they are steadier. Also the upper pointed end prevents the accumulation of moisture or snow on the surface, which frequently weighs a balloon down and destroys its power to rise.

M. Adhemar de la Hault invented the pear shaped balloon to act as aerial torpedoes for dispersing hail clouds in the vine growing districts of Europe. But they have shown themselves to be possessed of such excellent qualities that they are being utilized for other purposes.

REACHING OLD AGE.

Doubtless people by excess of toil and work, neglect of rest or rules of cleanliness do shorten the term for which they might abide. However, the man who lives by no rule and has no ambition to reach the century mark is more apt to approach it than the one who adopts "health-giving" fads, takes exercise by rote and dodges microbes sedulously. The individual with the latent potency of fourscore years or more is scarce. Mortuary statistics prove this. And the one passed by when epidemics sweep away his associates, or some of the countless accidents of ordinary existence end their careers, to be sound and strong to the last, is a miracle not only of vitality, but of the special providence generally known as good luck.

NOVEL PIANOFORTE.

An invention of interest to musicians is a pianoforte that renders the diatonic scale in perfectly just intonation in any desired key. It differs in outward appearance from the ordinary piano only in having, in addition to the usual pedals, a bank of a single octave, somewhat like organ pedals, which actuate a bank of sliding bars, and these in turn move the bridges on which the strings rest and adjust them simultaneously to any key. This is believed to be the first practical solution of the problem of just intonation for instruments with fixed keys.

ALEXANDER'S HOMER.

Alexander the Great was so fond of Homer's poems, the Iliad and the Odyssey, that he carried with him on his military campaigns an edition of them in which Aristotle had made notes and corrections. After the battle of Arbela, a golden casket, studded with costly jewels, was found in the tent of Darius, the Persian commander. When Alexander was asked what should be done with it he answered: "There is but one production in the world worthy of so rich a depository," and he placed in it his edition of Homer. That edition has ever since been called the Casket Homer.

THE INVENTOR

Byron Williams.

Our Willie is a genius and of great inventive mind— That boy will put Marconi on the blink— His tangisfoot for rabbits and a gopher thing you wind, Work slicker than a stopper to the sink.

You ought to see his "swillar" for the porkers and the cow, His shaker on the pop-corn popper, too! The preacher says that William has a very bulging brow And Fortune merely pines for him to woo!

The thrasher he invented for his hazelnuts is IT! His scheme for splitting kindling thrilled the town! He's built a rooster catcher that is sure to make a hit! His latest is an airship made of down!

He bought some wire and nippers, tapped the town electric light And runs his mother's wringer slick as grease! A train of cars is nothing—or a telephone kite— He's got the solar system under lease.

His mother says that Willie is the greatest of his race, He's got perpetual motion on the run. A boy who makes a milker that can strip Ol' Brindle Face Is wise enough to harness up the sun! So bow to Little Willie, who is bound to do or die.

The genius of the village and the town— Bring laurel for his forehead and the blooms to charm his eye— All hail the great inventor, Willie Moore!

Hog King of Fulton.

Fred Hayden, the hog king of Fulton county, has a Duroc Jersey sow that weighs 550 pounds and has a litter of 13 pigs as fine as you ever saw. Hayden claims to have the largest hogs in the county and will give any man $5 who has a larger sow than the one mentioned above. He is also an extensive breeder of two other thoroughbreds: Berkshires and I. O. C.

From an I. O. C. sow which he has on his place he sold last year $165 worth of pigs besides keeping four for his own use. This is conclusive evidence that thoroughbred stock is far ahead of scrubs, and it is only a question of time when the thinking farmer will breed a better grade of swine.

Past Democratic Conventions.

The first convention since the party assumed something resembling its present form was in 1832, at Baltimore, when Jackson was nominated by acclamation. The conventions of 1844, 1848 and 1852 were all held in Baltimore, the presidential nominees being Polk, Cass and Pierce, respectively.

Conventions since that time have resulted in the selection of the following candidates for president and vice-president:

June 2, 1856—Charleston, Douglass and Johnson.

June 18, 1860—Baltimore, Douglass and Johnson.

June 11, 1860—Richmond, Breckinridge and Lane.

June 8, 1860—Baltimore, Breckinridge and Lane.

August 29, 1864—McClellan and Pendleton.

July 4, 1868—New York, Seymour and Blair.

July 6, 1872—Baltimore, Greeley and Brown.

July 27, 1876—St. Louis, Tilden and Hendricks.

July 22, 1880—Cincinnati, Hancock and English.

July 8, 1884—Chicago, Cleveland and Hendricks.

July 5, 1888—St. Louis, Cleveland and Thurman.

June 21, 1892—Chicago, Cleveland and Stevenson.

July 7, 1896—Chicago, Bryan and Sewell.

July 4, 1900—Kansas City, Mo., Bryan and Stevenson.

July 6, 1904—St. Louis, Parker and Davis.

July 7, 1908—Denver, Colo., Bryan and Kern.

The Judicial district committee having called a Democratic primary for November 3rd, the candidates for circuit judge and commonwealth's attorney will get busy. Judge Bugg will seek re-election, and H. J. Morman, Sam Crossland and Ben Davis are also mentioned as candidates for circuit judge. For commonwealth's attorney, Mr. Hester is understood to be a candidate for re-election, R. L. Smith is already actively in the field, and Jno. Wickliffe may enter. Pete Seay, of Mayfield, is also said to be a possible starter.—Clinton Gazette.

Out of Date Plumbing is Unhealthy

Plumbing fixtures and systems as made and installed some years ago were very efficient at that time, but so many improvements have been made recently in sanitation that an old plumbing system is not only unsanitary, but is a menace to the health of the occupants of the house in which it is still in use.

Is Your Plumbing Out of Date?

If so, the members of your household are constantly risking their health. Defective plumbing generates germ-bearing sewer gases which pollute the atmosphere and cannot help but be breathed by the occupants. Sewer gas is dangerous and the strongest constitution cannot long withstand its ill effects.

Let us examine the condition of your plumbing, in order to correct defective piping and install the best and most sanitary fixtures made, namely "Standard" Baths and One-piece Lavatories. "Standard" Ware is guaranteed. If this is done, your home will be healthy and more comfortable. Ask for booklet "Modern Home Plumbing."

Kern For 2nd Place.

At the final session Friday of the convention, Hon. John W. Kern of Indiana was nominated for vice president by acclamation. His name was presented to the convention by Delegate Marshall and was seconded by a host of delegates, including Governor Folk of Missouri. Charles A. Towne of New York, Clark Howell of Georgia and Archibald McNeill of Connecticut were also placed in nomination.

As the call of states proceeded it soon became evident that the Indiana man would land. The names of Towne, Howell and McNeill were withdrawn and Kern was nominated by acclamation.

President Walker Banqueted.

The Banquet given Wednesday evening by the office force, foremen and bosses, of the Mengel Box Company in honor of the manager, C. L. Walker, was a complete success in every way. The banquet was given in Mr. Walker's front yard. The yard was made as light as day with gas lights, and the table, half as long as the yard, was a good sight. Barbecued mutton and pork, lots of other things to eat and good things to drink, made the occasion one to be well remembered. After supper, speeches were made by Col. Walker, J. W. Roney, Bob Wolsifer, Allison Tyler, John Dillon, Sr., Capt. Malary, of the Wash Honshell, Al Faris, and H. F. Remley. The Hickman Band was quite an acquisition, playing throughout the supper, and several pieces afterwards. Vocal solos by several of the men were rendered. The occasion in every respect, was a success, and will long be remembered by those who were participants.

Will be O. K. at Clinton.

Mr. Ben T. Davis of Hickman was in town yesterday feeling the pulse of the voters as he is a tentative candidate for circuit judge in this district. Mr. Davis is very well known in this county and should he decide to make the race for Judge he will have a strong following here. He will decide fully in a short time what he will do, and it is more than likely that he will run.—Clinton Gazette.

Sorry to Lose Them.

Hickman lost two mighty good people when C. P. (Porter) Shumate and wife left Monday for Newbern, Tenn., where they will make their future home. Mr. Shumate has held the position of cashier of the Hickman Bank for several years, but resigned because the banking business was too confining. During his business career here, he made friends of all with whom he came in contact, and was especially popular in social and business circles. As a business man he is capable, energetic and trustworthy; but seven days in a each week he possesses an optimistic demeanor and a kindly disposition which makes all love him.

In his new home, Shumate will look after the books of a big mercantile establishment.

As a matter of fact, the "latch string always hangs out" in Hickman for both he and his good wife.

An Old Hickman Boy.

Prof. J. A. Clark, of Pueblo, Colo., an old Hickman boy writes that he had the pleasure of being a party to an automobile outing at Pueblo. There were eight cars and their trip covered about forty miles. Prof. Clark is principal of the American Business College. He was reared and educated at Hickman, and is a grandson of Mrs. M. E. Rose.

Clark's remarkable strides from the ordinary surroundings of a country youth to that of the head of a large institution of learning is another demonstration of what pluck and stick-to-itiveness will do—and that possibly the germ of true greatness emanates only from obscurity—born of hardship.

A Cracker-Jack Sale.

The progressive firm of Smith & Amberg are right in the midst of a big clearing sale this week. The announcement of a sale at their store never fails to create a sensation, and this time they have smashed all records in the matter of giving bargains. There is not an article in the house that has not been reduced in price. If there is one thing among others this that firm's advertising manager is particular about, it is the stating only of facts in their advertising. If they offer you a suit of clothes for 10c, call for it—that's the price, and you'll get it. If you haven't attended this sale, go today, and see one of the largest and most progressive firms of Western Kentucky in action.

The Henry A. Tyler, chapter Daughters of the Confederacy, of Columbus, Ky., have mounted the old cannon used by the Confederate forces at that place in 1861. It was molded at Memphis and weighs 13,352 pounds and is one of the longest guns made during the Civil War. At the evacuation of Columbus by the Confederate army it was spiked and rendered useless. For twenty five years it rested in the Mississippi River where it had fallen caused by the caving bank, but was taken up by the citizens of Columbus. A marble slab with the history of the gun will be erected near by on the hill overlooking that town, which will be of great interest in the future.

If you use a pulverized or ground coffee you can get an extra fine one from C. H. Moore at 25c per pound.

Wickliffe For Attorney.

We are authorized this week to put before our readers the name of J. B. Wickliffe, of Ballard county, as a candidate for the office of Commonwealth Attorney for the First Judicial District.

Mr. Wickliffe is a native of Ballard county, at which place, together with Carlisle county, he has practiced law for twenty years. He is a son of Col. Chas. Wickliffe, colonel of the 7th Ky. Regiment Confederate army. Col. Wickliffe lost his life in battle, and Charles was left to make his own way in life, and when old enough took up the profession of law. He is not only a self-made man, but a splendid lawyer, possessing a strong personality and good sense.

In his twenty years' law practice and equally as many years constant labor for the interests of the Democratic party, he has never asked for office but once—the office of County Attorney of Ballard county. To this office he was elected in 1897, and it is said by those who know that he made the best attorney the county ever had. He is also a man above reproach, standing high wherever he is known.

Without any verbose, long-winded eulogy, Mr. Wickliffe asks the consideration of the voters of his district in the behalf of his candidacy. He thinks Ballard county should be recognized in this race, as they have not furnished a judge or commonwealth attorney for the district in twenty years.

Mr. Wickliffe is running subject to the November primary, and we feel sure that we would make no mistake in electing him. He is a pleasant, genial fellow, and you will like him.

Pete Wilson, colored, was murdered and burned in his house at Union City, Saturday night. After the fire was extinguished Wilson's body was discovered in the ruins. An examination of the body reveals a gash of about four inches, diagonally across the breast, over the heart, completely severing two of his ribs and cutting the heart in two. A thorough investigation will be made at once by the authorities.

The Farmer's Prosperity.

The American farmer went out this year he could clean up a thousand million dollars. He would have to sell his farm for it; for there is not enough money in the world to pay half his

of the money-mad trust might have reason to be mad. He owned the farms instead of watered stock. When we hear that the American farmer is enough in seventeen days to get Standard Oil, and enough in days to wipe Carnegie and the Trust off the industrial map, the story of the trust seems like a short and simple annals of the can farmer's hen!

"Merely the crumbs that drop from the farmer's table (other wise known as agricultural exports,) have brought him in enough of foreign money since 1892 to enable him, if he wished, to settle the railway problem once for all by buying every foot of railroad in the United States.

"Such is our New Farmer—a man for whom there is no name in any language. He is as far above the farmer of the story-books as an 1906 touring car is above a jinrikisha. Instead of being an ignorant hoe-man in a barnyard world, he gets the news by daily mail and telephone; incidentally publishes 700 trade journals of his own. Instead of being a moneyless peasant he pays the interest on the mortgage with the earnings of a week. Even this is less expense than it seems, for he borrows the money from himself, out of his own banks, and spends the bulk of the tax-money around his own properties.

"Farming for a business not for a living—this is the motive of the new farmer. He is a commercialist—a man of the twentieth century. He works as hard as the old farmer did, but in a higher way. He uses the 4 M's—mind, money, machinery and muscle; but as little of the latter as possible.

"Neither is he a Robinson Crusoe of the soil; as the old farmer was. His hermit days are over; he is a man among men. The railway, the trolley, the automobile, and the top buggy have transformed him into a suburbanite. In fact his business has become so complex and many-sided that he touches civilization at more points and lives a larger life than if he were one of the atoms of a crowded city.

"All American farmers, of course, are not of the new variety. The country like the city, has its slums. But after having made allowance for exceptions, it is still true that the United States is the native land of the new farmer. He is the most typical human produced, and the most important, for in spite of its egotistical cities, the United States is still a farm-based nation"—Selected.

Pastor For Baptist Church.

Rev. Andrew Turkington has been engaged by the Baptist people of this city as pastor of their church.

Rev. Turkington is a native of Ireland, and Hickman enjoys the unique distinction of having the only imported pastor in Western Kentucky. In keeping with his nationality, he is a bright, entertaining speaker, and withal a splendid preacher.

Services at the Baptist church Sunday morning and evening. Prayer meeting, Tuesday evening. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

Resolutions of Respect.

As a token of our sincere appreciation of the invaluable services rendered by our late Worshipful Master, C. P. Shumate, whose recent departure from this city occasions deepest regret on the part of the fraternity, be it

RESOLVED, That in the loss of him from our midst, not only does Hickman lose a splendid citizen—honest, upright and loved by all—but that Hickman Lodge No. 761, F. & A. M., loses a most zealous official, ever ready to execute any task for the uplifting of the order or its membership. His daily life was one worthy of emulation, and fruitful of those virtues and principles which characterize Masonry and its precepts. Therefore, be it

RESOLVED, That the lodge extend to him its sincere and thankful appreciation of the services rendered it; and wish for him in his new home peace and happiness, together with the richest blessings of the great Architect.

Number pupil children in Educational Division No. 4, 562.

The names and boundaries of the white school districts remain the same as under the old law, but the numbers have been changed. For future convenience, the sub-districts will be known by the names and numbers as given above. This is done in accordance with Bulletin No. 4, State Department of Education. It is possible that the divisions as given above may not be satisfactory in every case, but changes may be made whenever they are necessary.

On the first day of August, an election of one trustee will be held in each white school sub-district in the county. This will be the first election under the new law, and as the County Superintendent no longer has the right to appoint trustees in case of vacancies, it is absolutely necessary that each sub-district elect a trustee, in order to be represented on the Division Board.

DORA M. SMITH,
County Supt.

The whereabouts of Walter W. Meadows, who left home at Mayfield, Saturday July 4 is still unknown. Without any reason to his friends or family he took a sudden notion to depart for greener fields and the only information that his wife had of his going was when she received a note saying that he had gone for parts unknown and that she would not hear from him for a year or more. He took with him his oldest son, aged ten years. From Mayfield he went to Paducah and nothing has been heard of him since he reached that city. The sudden leave of Meadows was a surprise to his friends and a shock to his wife and relatives. He has six small children.

Rush Creek.

The infant child of John Lunsford and wife is quite sick.

Our protracted meeting is in progress. We have good sermons, but as yet no professions.

Misses Lottie Weaver and Inez Bynum, of near Fulton, attended services at Rush Creek Sunday.

Miss Georgia Weaver is visiting her uncle, Mr. P. Henry this week. He has been ill for a week or so, but is improving now.

Mrs. Jas. Keiser and sister, Mrs. Luella Hawkins, attended services at the Primitive Baptist Church at Rock Spring, Saturday.

Sid Smith and wife were called hastily to Pierce Station last Friday, to the bedside of Mr. Smith's brother-in-law, Mr. Cooper, who was seriously ill and died that afternoon.

Miss Eva Murchison and Robert Bondurant were united in marriage at the home of the bride, last Sunday afternoon. They left for Sharon, Tenn., immediately after the ceremony.

Mrs. Ida Wheeler, daughter of Mr. Seals, living on the Noonan place, died July 8th. The remains were interred in Rush Creek cemetery, July 8th. Funeral services by Bro. Bransford.

Mrs. W. H. Caldwell is visiting relatives in Paducah.

The Courier and the weekly Commercial-Appeal one year for $1.25.

The Steamer Liberty will run an excursion from Hickman to Columbus Saturday night. 35c round trip.

Mrs. B. T. Davis and Miss Virginia Davis returned Wednesday from Monteagle, Tenn. They were accompanied home by C. L. King, father of Mrs. Davis, who will spend several days here.

State Line.

Mrs. Mary Rose visited relatives in Hickman last week.

J. P. Maddox was a caller near Moscow Sunday afternoon.

Ed Rice, of Hickman, spent last week with his uncle, W. B. Clark.

R. L. Ballow, of Cayce, was in this vicinity Tuesday, on business.

Dr. D. C. Maddox, of Memphis, spent Saturday and Sunday with home folks.

Miss Mary Burrus spent last week with her sister, Mrs. J. R. Moss, near Union City.

Little Miss Clara Clark, daughter of W. B. Clark, has been very sick for several day.

W. V. Carter, of Rives, Tenn., attended the funeral of W. M. Bacon here Sunday.

Misses Ivey and Addie Corum, of Union City, were the guests of their cousin, Miss Ida Corum, last week.

J. R. Moss and daughter, of Union City, were the guests of her parents, S. B. Burrus Saturday and Sunday.

Misses Maggie Lee Rice and Hazelle Johnson, of Hickman, were the guests of Mrs. W. B. Clark last Wednesday.

Lee Maddox and wife, of Terrell, Tenn., are spending some time with relatives here. Mr. Maddox is occupied with wheat threshing.

Called to Rest.

Wilson Marion Bacon, one of the oldest and most highly respected citizens of the county, died Saturday at noon at the home of his sister, Mrs. T. D. Berry, near Woodland Mills, Tenn., after a two week's illness.

Mr. Bacon was born in Owen county, Ky., in 1837, and came to Obion county in 1857, where he has since resided. During the war he served with distinction in the Confederate army. He was a member of the K. of H., and the Christian church.

Deceased is survived by his wife; one sister, Mrs. T. D. Berry; and three sons, Drew, Charles and Lem.

Mr. Bacon was as universally loved as any man in the state. He was a good man—possessing those traits of character which placed him at a long remove above the average—an indulgent father—a model citizen—a Christian gentleman. It is needless to add that he will be missed by his large circle of friends and relatives.

Funeral services were conducted at Poplar Grove by Rev. Freed, of Henderson, Tenn., and was one of the largest attended funeral ever witnessed in this part of the state.

The Courier extends sympathy to the bereaved ones.

Miss Mayme Naylor entertained I. T. and J. U. G. Clubs Saturday afternoon in honor of her cousin, Miss Ethel Naylor, of East Prairie. Punch was served by Misses Christine and Miriam Luten. A penny contest was a feature of the evening. At progressive Raffles, Miss Detrean was the winner of the prize, an ivory stick fan. Refreshments of cream, cake and salted peanuts were served.

Capt. French, of the Steamer Liberty, was arrested Monday on a warrant charging him with selling intoxicating liquors without a license. The offense is alleged to have been committed one day last week when a party from here got on the boat and were put off near Stumpy Point above town. The trial has been set for Friday.

H. G. Barrett returned this morning from Columbus, Miss., where he has been for the past few weeks.

Mrs. C. C. Smith and son, Frank, leave Friday night for Monteagle, Tenn., to be gone several days.

HEALTH BRINGS HAPPINESS.

Invalid Once, a Happy Woman Now.

Mrs. C. R. Shelton, Pleasant Street, Covington, Tenn., says: "Once I seemed a helpless invalid, but now I enjoy the best of health. Kidney disease brought me down terribly. Rheumatic aches and pains made every move painful. The secretions were disordered and my head ached to distraction. I was in a bad condition, but medicines failed to help. I lost ground daily until I began with Doan's Kidney Pills. They helped me at once and soon made me strong and well."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Up to His Tricks.

Lord Rosslyn, at a dinner in New York, said of a notorious London spendthrift:

"When he was at Oxford he wired once to his uncle, whose heir he was: 'If you don't send me a hundred by Saturday, I'll blow my brains out.'"

"His uncle wired back: 'You telegraphed me that before, and when I forwarded you my best revolver, you went and pawned it.'"

Proof is inexhaustible that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound carries women safely through the Change of Life.

Read the letter Mrs. E. Hanson, 304 E. Long St., Columbus, Ohio, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was passing through the Change of Life, and suffered from nervousness, headaches, and other annoying symptoms. My doctor told me that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was good for me, and since taking it I feel so much better, and I can again do my own work. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me during this trying period."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

AMOUNT OF MILK FOR CALVES.

It Varies with the Capacity of the Animal.

The amount of milk for calves varies greatly with the capacity of the calf to take it. The amount recommended to be fed also varies greatly, some authorities recommending twice as much as others. With reference to this question it will be correct to say that during the earlier weeks of the life of the calf no adjuncts will be found superior or equal to milk. It is also true at the same time that as soon as calves can utilize other food to good advantage, it will be found cheaper than milk. It follows, therefore, that the calves should be given all the milk that they can digest properly until they can make a good use of other substitutes that will take the place of milk.

But care should be taken not to overfeed milk, good as it is, cautions the Orange Judd Farmer. This can be easily done. The indications of overfeeding soon show themselves in deranged digestion, and such derangement is commonly indicated by scourings. The moment that such an indication appears the amount of milk fed should be reduced.

It is very evident from what has been said that it will not be possible to name the amounts of milk to feed that will be suitable for calves of all ages, but it may be possible to state average amounts. It would seem safe to say that during the first week of the life of a calf it will safely take from six to eight pounds of milk, the latter quantity being fed at the close of the week. Strong, vigorous calves may take as much as ten pounds, but ordinarily the smaller quantity is the safer one. Then add one pound of milk every week with advance in the age of the calf until it is, say, ten weeks old.

SILAGE INSTEAD OF GRAIN.

Experiment Which Proves Value of Former Over Latter.

The Ohio experiment station has been carrying on several investigations to determine to what extent silage may be made to take the place of grain in feeding dairy cattle. Two rations were fed, carrying practically the same amount of dry matter.

In one ration over 50 per cent. of this dry matter was derived from grain. In the other ration over 57 per cent. of the dry matter was derived from grain, no silage being fed. The cows fed with the silage ration produced 96.7 pounds of milk and 5.08 pounds of butter fat per 100 pounds of dry matter.

The cows fed on the grain ration produced 8.13 pounds of milk and 3.9 pounds of butter fat per 100 pounds of dry matter.

The cost of feed per 100 pounds of milk was 68.7 cents with the silage ration, and $1.055 with the grain ration.

The cost of feed per 100 pounds of butter fat was 13.1 cents with the silage ration and 22.1 cents with the grain ration.

The average net profit per cow per month (over cost of labor) was $5.64 with the silage ration and $2.465 with the grain ration.

PASTURING ONE COW.

Good Yoke for Tying Can Be Made Out of Hay-Rack Tooth.

For tying a cow to pasture I use a yoke, as shown in the cut. Take an old horse-rack tooth, heat it to take out the temper, and make it about 36 inches long. Bend it as shown in the cut, with a loop on each end. Now make a link out of a one-fourth or five-sixteenth inch rod about four inches long, and weld it together. Then, explains Farm and Home, put it on one end of the yoke and close the eye tightly. Have the yoke close enough at top to spring the link in place. A ring should be slipped on the yoke to fasten the chain through.

Stomach Worms Kill Many Lambs.

The stomach worm gives us the most trouble after the lambs are started. I think the losses altogether from the time the lambs come till they are mature sheep will be about 12 per cent., writes a Putnam county (Ohio) farmer in Farmers' Review. We lose more lambs at time of birth than at any other time. The intestinal parasites give us much trouble, and every now and then we lose a lamb from them. Dogs have occasionally lost much loss in this vicinity, for every once in awhile they make a raid on the sheep. We occasionally lose a sheep from getting on its back in a slight depression, where it will do in time if it is not helped up.

ROUND THE CAPITAL

Information and Gossip Picked Up Here and There in Washington.

Keeper of Lid During Summer in Doubt

WASHINGTON.—Who will sit on the "lid" here during the summer, while the president is taking rest and recreation at Oyster Bay? None of the cabinet officials wants the job, and so far it has been a continual performance of sidestepping. Even when the president left for his Long Island home the other day only tentative plans for the dog days watch had been determined upon.

Secretary Root, who left at the same time, will be gone all summer. Assistant Secretary of State Bacon will be the lid sitter in the state department most of the summer.

Attorney General Bonaparte will keep out of Washington as much as possible during July, paying flying visits from Baltimore. In August he will be at the Aspinwall hotel in Lenox, Mass.

Secretary Metcalf has gone to California to spend the summer in the mountains. He will not be seen in Washington until frost comes.

Postmaster General Meyer will be hence to the St. Lawrence to fish. Secretary Garfield is in Hawaii and will stay there for three months. Secretary Cortelyou will have a quiet summer, probably on Long Island.

Secretary Wilson will stay in Washington for some time on account of the business arising in connection with the enforcement of the pure food laws. If he takes a vacation he will go to his Iowa farm.

Secretary Wright, who will succeed Secretary Taft in the war department, will hardly be eligible to such a serious task as keeping the big lid down this summer. He will spend much of his time this summer in Washington, however. Secretary Straus has taken the seat on the lid and will have this throne of honor until some of the other members will consent to relieve him.

Picturesque Princess Invades Capital

PRINCESS VILMA LWOFF PARAGHY is in town. And that's not all. With her are three maids, by courtesy French; first, second and third attache; marshal, courtier, butler, chef, and, for good measure, three or four other men servants.

And that's not all. And with her also are one small yappy, white woolly dog, one pair of guinea pigs badly in need of a hair-cut, a couple of young wolves, an ibis, a falcon, several owls, and a family of alligators.

And that's not all. With her also are several drays of the gaudiest luggage that any local hotel ever sheltered. It is all painted red, white and green—the Hungarian colors.

All these—princess, suite, menagerie and impediments—are at the Willard. They arrived from Hot Springs, Va., a few days ago in a private car. They proceeded to the hotel after some delay, in half a dozen carriages, and after considerable excitement on the part of the hotel employees her highness was finally established in a suite which comprises almost the entire southeast wing of the second floor. The princess had ordered a room with a balcony and was justly indignant when she found she had been relegated to the fourth floor, where there was no balcony.

Pretty Society Belle Studying Bugs

A BEAUTIFUL woman who leads a double life is the latest person of interest in Washington's smart set. The beautiful woman is Miss Harriet Richardson, and her double life is perfectly proper as well as highly interesting.

Three hours of each day she is Miss Richardson of the Smithsonian Institution, authority on the isopods of North America, one of the "Who's Whos" in the American Men of Science and with a long string of degrees filling out the page after her name. The other 21 hours of the day she is Miss Harriet Richardson of Wyoming avenue, N. W., a society favorite.

Miss Richardson inherited a fortune from her father, C. E. F. Richardson, a wealthy land holder. She is one of the most exquisitely dressed young women in Washington, a skilled horsewoman, a globe trotter and an adept at bridge whist. Her suitors are many and some have been ardent. But thus far suitors have been unable to tempt her—for there are the isopods.

Her first deviation from society's beaten path came when she refused to be a "bun," going to Vassar instead.

Uncle Sam Starts a Crusade on Flies

UNCLE SAM is busy these days counting house flies. He has started a sort of fly census for the purpose of ascertaining the relationship between the little buzzing pests and typhoid fever. It is believed by some agricultural department entomologists that flies do an awful lot towards spreading typhoid germs around—in fact, several of them have been caught with the goods.

The plan, therefore, is to catch the wicked little insects, count 'em, and compile a lot of data for comparison with statistics furnished by the health department as to the prevalence of typhoid fever in localities where capture the southeast wing of the second floor. The princess had ordered a room with a balcony and was justly indignant when she found she had been relegated to the fourth floor, where there was no balcony.

In vain did the manager explain that the lower floors were not in use in the summer, that they were closed entirely and dismantled. They must be opened and refurnished. Madame wanted a balcony and must have a balcony. The closed rooms were forthwith opened and furnished in the shortest possible time and Mme. la Princess Paraghy was installed in a suite of something like 20 rooms with a balcony.

She has what figures as her second sitting room exclusively for her menagerie and is lamenting that she decided to ship a young bear, a dear little tiger kitten, and a furry little lion cub direct to her home at Nice.

The princess is the most picturesque lady who has enlivened Washington for many moons. She was here for a few days last February, but attracted little attention after the fiction that she was here to paint the president had been denied both at the White House and by madam herself. She is Hungarian by birth and Russian by marriage, but that did not last long. Like any American girl, she had to get rid of her Russian prince.

But when, after taking a baccalaureate degree, she wished to go on studying, her family rebelled. It was then that Dr. C. W. Richardson, her brother, had the happy inspiration of taking her to the dusty old Smithsonian Institution, where his influence procured her the right to work as a volunteer.

He thought one visit would be the end. So he took her up the narrow stairs to the smelly balcony, where collections of fossils were being mounted. Miss Richardson calmly sat down before a compound microscope and announced that she liked it.

That's where I found her, in a Parisian linen suit, fondling little bottles of preserved isopods as daintily as if they were thimble tea-cups.

Every morning from ten till one Miss Richardson is at her desk. There she has written her book, "A Monograph on the Isopods of North America," dealing with specimens furnished by the Harriman expedition to Alaska, and 15 shorter works, two of which she has just prepared for a Paris scientific paper.

But even when abroad, absent from the allurements of the institution, the scientific side of Miss Richardson's mind asserts itself. She leaves the gay watering places and season entertainments to go and visit Dr. Thomas Scott of Aberdeen or Dr. M. Norman, just out of London, both famous scientists. This summer she is invited to visit Prof. Glard, director of the laboratory at Wimereux, France.

ures are made. The fly census has, therefore, been inaugurated in Washington and Pittsburg and may be extended to other cities.

Dr. L. O. Howard, chief entomologist of the department of agriculture, is in charge of the fly-paper sticky, which posts sheets of good old sticky stuff around in public places and gathers them in again after capture of 48 hours have been made.

The greatest number of flies that have been enumerated at one haul so far is 2,600, gathered at the United States arsenal, an engineer post on the Potomac river.

The experts carefully count the victims, determine the length of time they have been dead, search them for germs, and do various other funny things that eventually may mean a lot in convicting Mr. Fly of transplanting disease. As soon as returns are in from the great "fly center"—Pittsburg—there may be some interesting data to give out.

FRENCHMAN GAVE ARM TO ATTRACT SYMPATHY

REMARKABLE CASE OF SIMULATED DISEASE BROUGHT TO LIGHT IN PARIS.

Paris.—A remarkable story was related at the Academy of Medicine by Dr. Meulafay—the case of a man who, from a morbid desire to attract attention and sympathy, willfully allowed the amputation of an arm for the sake of curing an imaginary disease.

The subject enjoyed excellent health, was intelligent, well bred, and was employed in a government office, where he enjoyed an excellent reputation. When his misfortunes first began he was the center of friendly solicitude. That was a few years ago, and at that time there suddenly ap-

The man consulted several physicians and their diagnosis was almost always different and their treatment invariably unsuccessful.

The sores were so persistent and rendered the poor fellow so unhappy that a surgeon finally suggested that he have the arm amputated. He consented and the operation was performed. Three months later the sores appeared on the right arm and then on the feet.

The patient sought consultation with Dr. Meulafay, one of the most celebrated practitioners in France. The physician studied the case thoroughly, but was forced to reject one hypothesis after another, until one day, in the course of his examination, Meulafay noticed that the sores were similar to those made by potash burns.

He piled the patient with questions and accused him of causing the sores himself. The patient met the accusation at first with indignant denials, but finally confessed that under the sway of an impulse too strong for his will to overcome he made all the sores himself with potash, and that the same impulse forced him to submit to the amputation.

The patient suffered terribly from the wounds and stood the suffering heroically.

FISH IS HONEST BORROWER.

Huge Pickeral Returns $10 with 50 Cents Interest.

St. Paul, Minn.—Nathan Rosenstein of St. Paul last August went fishing in the beautiful Lake Bemidji. Rosenstein caught seven sunfish and a perch, and was about to quit, when an enormous pickeral made a furious dash at his bait.

The suddenness of the "strike" startled the man, and he jerked his pole, which caught in the flap of his coat pocket. A ten-dollar gold piece slipped out of the pocket and rolled toward the gunwale. Rosenstein dropped the pole and grabbed for the coin, but it slid overboard. Fascinated by the sight, Rosenstein could but sit and watch. The big pickeral, wrenching himself free from the hook, and attracted by the shining coin, swung under the boat. The great jaws opened, and the coin disappeared before Rosenstein's very eyes.

Only a few days ago Rosenstein was again on Lake Bemidji and made a fairly good day's catch. Trolling back toward the dock in the evening, he felt a strike, and after a furious ten-minute battle landed an enormous pickeral. On splitting the big pickeral, he found the ten-dollar gold piece lost last fall.

He poked around with the knife and uncovered 58 cents in small silver coins and pennies. It was interest at the legal rate on the lost ten-dollar gold piece.

Man Proves Best Comedian.

Inland, N. J.—A hen's tuncful lay broke up the production of a farce comedy which the ladies of the Washington club were presenting. "Biddy" came on as part of the belongings of Aunt Sarah from the country, and just as a solemn part in the play was reached she began to cackle lustily.

The audience roared while the actors tried to smother the hen with a shawl, but the infection was too much and soon the actors and audience laughed until the songster was removed.

'GATOR ON THE RAMPAGE.

Edifying Story That is Vouched for by the Georgia Ananias.

"Yes," said the fisherman, "the man had fished all the forenoon, and hadn't got a nibble, so he took another wailer out the jug, pulled off his boots, and lay down on the river bank and went to sleep. As soon as he went to snoring good, a alligator that had been watchin' him all the mornin' crawled up an' swallered his boots, likewise the jug, with 'bout half a gallon in it, I reckon. The cork came out, and, of course, the 'gator got the full benefit of the whisky, which so turned its head that it lashed the water with its tail till the river was a foam'n' mass, after which it crawled up on the bank agin an' made des'p'it efforts to climb trees an' turn double-somersaults, an' so all manner of impossible things!"

"Why didn't it swallow the fisherman, instead of his boot?" some one asked.

"Gators, gentlemen," said the storyteller, "can't stand ever' thing. They must draw the line some'ers."—Atlanta Constitution.

Romance and Reality.

"Let the youngsters have their romance—an' it'll be all the better for 'em if they git a purty good dose on it; but don't hide from 'em the fact that thar's somethin' in the shape of trouble a-waitin' fer 'em up the road," said Mr. Hilly Sanders. "Not his trouble, tooby shore, but jest big enough to make 'em stick closer together. It ain't no use to try to rub out the fact that life is what it is. It's full of rough places, an' thar are times when you have to leave the big road an' take a short-cut through the bamboo briars for to keep from slippin' in a mudhole. The briars hurt, but the mudhole might snufflicate you. It ain't no use to deny it, trouble is seasonin'. I never know'd it to hurt anybody but the weak-minded, the willful an' 'em thim that was born to the purple."—Joel Chandler Harris, in Uncle Remus Magazine.

DOCTOR SAID "USE CUTICURA"

In Bad Case of Eczema on Child—Disease Had Reached a Fearful State—His Order Resulted in Complete Cure.

"When I was small I was troubled with eczema for about three months. It was all over my face and covered nearly all of my head. It reached such a state that it was just a large scab all over, and the pain and itching were terrible. I doctored with an able physician for some time and was then advised by him to use the Cuticura Remedies which I did and I was entirely cured. I have not been bothered with it since. I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment but do not know exactly how much was used to complete the cure. I can safely say that Cuticura did a lot for me. Miss Anabel Wilson, North Branch, Mich., Oct. 20, 1907."

Hurt a Convict's Pride.

A church missionary had a letter recently from a convict begging him to reform the writer's wife, who was also in prison.

The convict—who is serving a long term—was very anxious about the matter, because, as he said: "It was no credit to him to receive letters from such a place as prison."

Another convict, in the course of a letter to his brother, a pauper, remarked: "Well, Jack, thank goodness I have never sunk so low as the workhouse yet."—London Daily News.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twentytwo per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirtyseven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, but you must see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Castoria causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. A. F. Peeler, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy."

Dr. E. Down, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in my practice for many years with great satisfaction to myself and benefit to my patients."

Dr. Edward Parrish, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild laxative effect and freedom from harm."

Dr. J. B. Elliott, of New York City, says: "Having during the past six years prescribed your Castoria for infantile stomach disorders, I most heartily commend its use. The formula contains nothing deleterious to the most delicate of children."

Dr. C. G. Sprague, of Omaha, Neb., says: "Your Castoria is an ideal medicine for children, and I frequently prescribe it. While I do not advocate the indiscriminate use of proprietary medicines, yet Castoria is an exception for conditions which arise in the care of children."

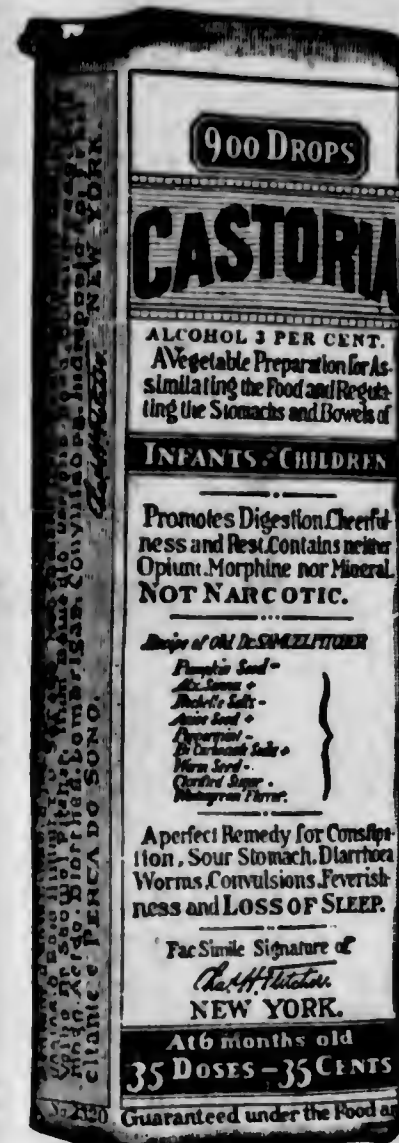

Dr. J. A. Parker, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a sure and reliable medicine for infants and children. In fact, it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."

Dr. H. F. Merrill, of Augusta, Me., says: "Castoria is one of the very finest and most remarkable remedies for infants and children. In my opinion your Castoria has saved thousands from an early grave. I can furnish hundreds of testimonials from this locality as to its efficiency and merits."

Dr. Norman M. Geer, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "During the last twelve years I have frequently recommended your Castoria as one of the best preparations of the kind, being safe in the hands of parents and very effective in relieving children's disorders, while the ease with which such a pleasant preparation can be administered is a great advantage."

TOMORROW'S SORROW.
There is very little trouble
That happens us today;
It's the sorrows of tomorrow
That drive our joys away.
We sometimes sit and wonder
And stew and fume and fret
For fear something may happen,
But it hasn't happened yet.
There was once a lonely woman
Who cried down by the sea;
"What if my pretty children
All should perished be!"
Now this particular woman,
Who thus did cry and fret,
Is still a maiden lady,
So it hasn't happened yet.

HOW TO TELL HER AGE.
Girls of a marriageable age do not like to tell how old they are,
but you can find out by following the subjoined instructions: Tell her to put down the number of the month in which she was born, then to multiply it by 2, then to add 5, then to multiply it by 50, then to add her age, then to subtract 365, then to add 115, then tell her to tell you the amount she has left. The two figures to the right will tell you her age and the remainder the month of her birth. For example, if the amount is 822, she is twenty two years old and was born in the eighth month (August). Try it.

The need of some place to drop down for a moment and forget things is a crying one in most homes.
There ought to be enough sofas around to accommodate all the family. Five minutes rest will prevent many a family row, and how can you get rest if you have to pull shams off the bed and roll up the overlid?
A shabby old lounge where you can get at it, is worth its weight in gold;
and you won't want to die half so many times if you make use of it.
The loosening of the tension for ever so few minutes may save your reason some day. Don't go out and try to walk off your worries; don't tell them to your friend, either.
Just throw yourself down on the sofa
for a little while; shut your eyes and pretend you have no care. The worries will be lighter before you realize it, your brain will be clearer and your heart stronger to meet those that press closest.

If brothers or sisters err, the world says "shun them; thus you will show that you disapprove of the act, making an example of them."
Alas! how many examples we have
of this mode of teaching crowding the haunts of infamy today. Once bright young lives, over whose pure lips and innocent brows mothers watched in all tenderness; but the trembling feet took one false step,
and so we thrust them out of our hearts, out of our churches, and would even thrust them out of heaven.
Is it right, is it just, is it Christ-like?

ADVICE TO AN ENGAGED MAN.
If you think that a woman is any weaker minded than a man, stop where you are.
If you intend to treat yourself any better than your wife, don't take one.
If you suppose that running the house consists in paying the bills,
don't undertake it.
If you have an idea that you are too good for a picked up dinner, remain a bachelor.
If you have found it a hard task

PAIN
Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause.
Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers.
It is effective, pleasant, and safe. It is a miraculous remedy, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.
If you have a headache, it's blood pressure.
If it's a painful period with women, same cause.
If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a specialty for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply dislodge
the unnatural blood pressure.
Brush your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is always. It's simply common sense.
We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend to be happy yourself, don't try to make any one else happy.

If you have chosen a pretty woman without regard to her other qualities, halt; you are on the wrong
road.
If you think a house should have only one head, and that be yours,
postpone your wedding indefinitely.
If you are of the opinion that marriage makes the man and wife one, and that you are that one, send in your regrets at once.
If you are one of the men who think that ten per cent of their income belongs to the tap-room, let marriage alone.

THE EVIL IN FRETTING.
There is one sin which seems to us is everywhere and by everybody underestimated and quite too much overlooked in valuation of character.
It is the sin of fretting, so common that unless it rises above its usual monotone we do not observe it.
Watch any ordinary coming together
of people and see how many minutes
it will be before somebody frets—
that is, makes more or less complaining statement of something or other,
which most probably every one in the room, or in the car, or on the street corner, it may be, knew before, and which probably no one can help.
Why say anything about it? It is cold, it is hot, it is wet, it is dry, somebody has broken an appointment, ill cooked meal; stupidity or bad faith somewhere has resulted in discomfort.
There are plenty of things to fret about. It is simply astonishing how much annoyance may be found in the course of every day's living, even at the simplest, if one only keeps a sharp eye out on that side of things. Even holy writ says we are prone to trouble as sparks flying upward in the blackest of smoke there is a blue sky above, and the less time they waste on the road the sooner they will reach it. Fretting is all time wasted on the road.

A girl that is not neatly dressed is called a sloven, and no one likes to look at her. Her face may be pretty, and her eyes bright, but if there is a spot of dirt on her cheek, and her finger ends are black with ink, and her shoes are not laced or buttoned up, and her apron is dirty, and her collar not buttoned, and her skirt is torn, she cannot be liked.
Learn to be neat and when you have learned it, it will almost take care of itself.

It is only too true that to refrain from showing affection makes the wife miserable. She does not care for presents or lavish attention; she wants those little tokens such as may be given even in a look, which will prove her husband's love. We wish some of the good things that some men are saving up to say concerning their wives after they are dead could be said now. A man will spend $25 to buy cut flowers for his dead wife's coffin, when if he had spent 25 cents for a bunch of flowers for her when she was alive, she would have fainted. You wait until she is dead and then get some preacher to tell how good she was.

Most men would prefer domestic happiness to great riches.
Pain will depart in exactly 20 minutes if one of Dr. Shoop's Pink Pain Tablets is taken. Pain anywhere, Remember! Pain always means congestion, blood pressure—nothing else. Headache is blood pressure; toothache is blood pressure on the sensitive nerve. Dr.
Shoop's Headache Tablets—also called Pink Pain Tablets—quickly and safely coax this blood pressure away from the pain centers. Painful periods with women get instant relief. 20 Tablets 25c. Sold by all dealers.

ROAD AND FARM IMPROVEMENT

CEMENT, CULVERTS.
Prove the Cheapest Because They Last Longest.

If it is necessary to lay a pipe within two feet of the surface of the roadway, iron water pipe or gas pipe should be used. For larger volumes of water culverts of rubble masonry or Portland cement concrete may be built. Very often, with a proper design, it will be found to be more economical to use the concrete, particularly if it is re-enforced with steel.

Concrete Culvert End.

Large culverts and bridges should always be designed by competent civil engineers and constructed under their supervision. Indeed, very often the advice of such an engineer in regard to the smaller waterways might be sought with profit. Money is too often wasted from a lack of knowledge concerning the proper sizes of pipes and culverts.

In many localities it is the custom to extend to the center of the road driveway leading from adjacent lands
to the road to meet its center grade.
This practice makes it necessary to carry the gutter water under the driveway in a pipe. Nearly always it is possible, by regarding such a driveway, to make it coincide with the gutter grade, so that the surface water will flow by without interruption.
This should always be done when possible. Pipes with open ends laid at the gutter grade are always unsatisfactory, since they fill up quickly with leaves and sand and with slush in winter time, and thus the surface water is forced out upon the macadam and soon gullies it. When a pipe is required, a catch basin should be built on the upper side of the driveway, the pipe should be laid to connect with it, and carried sufficiently far under ground to discharge properly into the gutter below the driveway.

In cuts where the grade is in excess of three per cent, and where the soil is loose or sandy it is sometimes necessary to pave the gutters with cobblestones or with paving bricks or paving stones to prevent the formation of gullies in the shoulders and in the macadam. Usually a gutter three feet in width laid on the same or a little greater slope than the macadam, with an outer row of large stones about one foot high laid vertically against the bank of the cut, is sufficient. Such a gutter usually replaces the shoulder, and it should not be constructed until the macadam is substantially completed.

DAG THE ROADS.
Work if Done While Roads Are Soft
Is Most Effective.

The spring of the year is the time when the work of road-dragging must commence if the roads are to be brought into a good condition throughout the season. Dragging is a work that must be done at the very muddest time to be most effective. Some communities have waited till mid-summer or fall before beginning this work, and the results have not been very satisfactory.

In the spring the frost coming out of the ground leaves the roads muddy to a great depth. The whole mass is then plastic and will yield under the passing of the road drag. The draging is then easily done and when the good weather comes the heat of the sun dries the surface into a hard mass that remains so for a long time. In states where great advance has been made in the science of road dragging the major part of the work has been done in the early spring. After the foundation work is done the work can be later continued after heavy rains, but these rains do not usually wet the road in to a very great depth.

The benefits of dragging have been demonstrated in a thousand localities where the soil has in it enough clay to glaze under the passing of the road drag. We believe that every community where the roads are not sandy in nature can afford to take up this work and give the roads treatments that will insure good roads for the balance of the year.

Keep The Kidneys Well.
Health is Worth Saving, and
Some Hickman People Know
How to Save It.

Many Hickman people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need of suffering nor to remain in danger when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured
by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a Hickman citizen's recommendation.

A. P. Iverbey, living in Hickman, Ky., says: "For two or three months I was troubled from the dis-ordered condition of my kidneys. I had dull pains in the small of my back, and whenever I stooped or lifted anything, sharp twinges would cause me misery. At night the aching in my back greatly disturbed my rest and I rose in the morning feeling lame. I usually felt tired and lame and languid and nervous spells bothered me. My kidneys needed attention as was proved by the sediment contained in the secretions.
Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box at Helms & Ellison's Drug Store, and in three days they relieved me. It required but one half the contents of the box to affect a complete cure. I am glad to say this cure has been permanent and have no hesitancy in allowing you to publish my statement."

Blessings they are—God bless them so. And deeds of week in prove its truth. We received much inspiration to start all the where thought going and to grind at rapidity that we will have to right at the brakes.

And now with our minds filled tender thoughts, our hearts briming with gratitude, and praising ing our voices in the name of the loved ones who wore the gray,
thank them for their undying love and ever-lasting appreciation. We know that the future holds for such feasts of good things. May they be lifted to them out of a golden bowl of glory, gloriously
